TRUMP

The level of success you attain in life is largely governed by the company you keep.

If you're ambitious, you will have risen to the highest level in the circle of your peers. Now? Time to elevate your circle.

This September, I'll be headlining the National Achievers Congress - a first for Australia and for me.

This success-focused event will attract around 10,000 ambitious attendees each in Sydney and Melbourne.

That's good company - but I invite you to be a part of something much, much more exclusive.

This is the opportunity to join a new, elite group of peers that play at a higher level. This group will have access to me and I'll share my wisdom gained from a lifetime at the top of the game.

I assure you, this is by invitation only and you've just been handed one - I wouldn't want you to waste it.

This is more than an entrée to an upper echelon. You'll take away something that can influence the course of your life.

It'll be a chapter in life's story that few can ever tell.

The stuff of legend.

I'm extending to you an invitation to be a part of that legend - and to build your own.

WHERE LEGENDS ARE FORGED

TRUMP

AN INVITATION

FROM THE DESK OF DONALD TRUMP

Dear

The reason you are holding this is because it appears that you and I have something in common.

Like me, you're at the top of your food chain. And no-one put you there, you put yourself there.

I respect that. In fact, it's why I'd like to extend an invitation to you that very few will receive.

Maybe you've heard that, this September, I'm headlining a seminar on success in Sydney and Melbourne. And, as you'll know, usually when I do anything, I do it big. But there's something else I'm doing during my brief stay in Australia that, while not exactly 'small', is very exclusive.

What you may not know - because almost no-one does - is that I'm engaging in a private, closed reception where only those singled out for the opportunity will be my Platinum guests.

As host, I'll be welcoming each guest individually (I understand everyone will receive a framed photo to mark the occasion). Then they'll enjoy unparalleled access to me while rubbing shoulders with other Australian power players.

And, yes, you are being presented with the opportunity - The Platinum Privilege.

I imagine you'll already be seeing that this won't be just a 'party'... but a catalyst that can spark greater things - you'll be considering the influence this experience can have on the course of the rest of your life.

But before you linger on that thought for too long - it's only fair to tell you that there's two important points I should make about this opportunity:

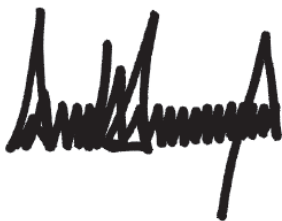

First - while you are definitely one of a small, hand-selected group to receive this invitation, it will also be seen by many more than there are spaces for among my final guests.

And second - it's only because this is my first speaking trip to Australia that I've agreed to make myself available. I've already ensured that this is never to be included in any future contracts. This is it.

I haven't made a call on this, but it's likely there'll be only 30-40 business leaders who will appreciate The Platinum Privilege and enjoy a list of advantages that most never will.

Clearly, the Platinum Privilege is not for everyone, nor is it meant to be.

Of course, I expect you have questions. No problem - simply leave your details here at www.PlatinumPrivilege.com.au or call my Australian representative, Michael Lane, on +61 2 8098 8126 and I'll send you a special information pack (you'll need to sign for it) which will explain the opportunity in greater detail.
